

Please point out where I have said I even was a member of that group, much less asked to be treated as such, much less insisted upon it.

Wait a minute. You've been claiming for quite a while now that pedophilia, according to CA state law, is a sexual orientation. Now your position is that the law doesn't specifically exclude it?

You know damn well what's going to happen. Some guy in a NAMBLA T-shirt's going to apply at a day-care, they're going to turn him down, he's going to take it to court, and the court's going to rule that sexual orientation is defined as homosexuality, heterosexuality, or bisexuality.

Unless and until that court decides that pedophilia is a sexual orientation, you have no business saying so.

Despite the fact that all homosexuals are lying bastards?

Ah.

So, for example, you are opposed to the Civil Rights Act of 1964?

There's no "for purposes of this act, the term 'sexual orientation' will be defined as" section? No definitions anywhere? Did they run this through the state Congress on an accelerated schedule or something?
